

A conversation with SARAH JOHNSON REDLICH

Date April 22, 2014 | 4pm—6pm | Free & Open to Public

Location: The California Room, UCLA Faculty Center

Special screening, lecture and Q and A

Parking Lot 2 permits available @ Kiosk next to Faculty Center

Introduction by Peter Samuelson, CEO of ASPIRE. Moderated by Dr. D. Andy Rice, ASPIRE Fellow in Socially Engaged Media. RSVP at <http://aspirekosove422.eventbrite.com>

SARAH JOHNSON REDLICH is a Partner at Worldview Entertainment in New York City. She sits on the board of directors for Mission Markets, Conservation South Africa and chairs the Advisory Board at Lamont Doherty Earth Observatory at Columbia University. Sarah is involved with the funding and producing of social impact documentary film. Two of her films “Chasing Ice” and “The Invisible War” were nominated for Academy Awards in 2012. This year’s “The Square” has already won Audience Awards at both Sundance and the Toronto Film Festival, the IDA award, and been short-listed for an Academy Award. Sara is an activist for environmental, educational, and gender issues. Worldview Entertainment is a leading independent motion picture studio that finances, produces and acquires theatrical quality feature films with budgets up to $50 million for worldwide distribution.

